

Local Cadet Is Decorated; Torpedoed By Nazi U-Boat

"The War Shipping Administration is pleased to award you a Merchant Marine War Service Bar as a token that you have faced direct enemy action in a service of vital importance to the nation. A Silver Bar will be affixed for the enemy action in which you were forced to abandon a sinking ship. This bar is a personal decoration—a symbol of your personal service."

This brief message and decoration to 21-year-old George David Constantine, aviation student at the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg college, is only a terse recognition of a horrible, nightmarish adventure at sea, an encounter with a German submarine, a torpedo explosion and a sunken freighter.

But let George David Constantine, who weathered this experience and escaped without a scratch, tell his own story, modestly and hesitantly related to a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

We were aboard a little freighter, converted from a once Great Lakes steamer. She was loaded brimful with canned food, ammunition and fuel oil and we were riding a heavy sea in a large convoy.

Swept by Gale A terrific gale smothered us. Our skipper, a veteran of some 40 years at sea, said it was the worst he had ever seen. I was working in the engine room with the first assistant engineer. The first I knew of how severe the storm was came about 6 o'clock one Sunday morning when I was almost thrown out of my bunk by the lurching of the ship. On deck I learned that we had lost our convoy and our escorts.

The skipper sent out an SOS but there was no reply. He radioed shore for a plane, fully realizing that we were helpless and at the mercy of any lurking submarine. Sunday night we shot out flares but there were no replies. We were alone, in a gale-tossed sea, a slow, helpless freighter.

All through Sunday, Sunday night and Monday we pitched and tossed. Lifeboats and lifebuoys were almost torn from their lashings. Heavy seas smothered our ship and I thought we'd go down any minute, but the stubborn, sturdy freighter held fast.

Trained by Sub Monday we realized that we were being followed by a sub. We sensed it, everybody aboard. That night several of us slept on deck, that is we tried to sleep. We saw a light in the distance and thought it might be a rescue ship, but it wasn't. I was near the pilot house, half dozing, when the general alarm sounded. The skipper ordered us below but several of us were permitted to remain where we were because it seemed to be warmer there, just above the engine room. The next alarm seemed to sound in my ear. I shook two men near me and we ran to our lifeboat stations, about 15 feet away. There were about 30 men at this station and all seemed helpless.

I turned toward the skipper and he motioned to a lifeboat. I dashed for it and a towering wave bashed me across the deck against a mast. I grabbed one man and tried to get him to go with me to the raft but he clutched my wrist and would not budge. I was helpless and he would not move. I had to strike him to release his grip on my wrist and three of us reached the raft. We slashed the loosened moorings and pushed it into the sea. One of my buddies jumped and landed on the raft, injuring his back. The second fellow landed clear and I did the same, but my leap seemed never to end as I was caught in a lowering swell and a rising ship.

Pray in Unison We finally boarded the raft and the first thing we did was pray. I am a Catholic and said the Lord's Prayer. My Protestant buddies answered in their fashion. They led and I answered in my fashion. It was a combination prayer in unison. The torpedo? I did not see it and I did not hear an explosion. Our ship just seemed to give another lunge as though battered by a heavy roll of the sea. Perhaps the noise of the gale drowned out the noise of the explosion.

On the raft I saw the captain at his station, the ship listed, the how went up and then down and then the freighter slipped into the sea. The chief engineer, a man of about 65, had his head bashed in and instead of going to a raft insisted on going below. I never saw him again.

Saw Mate Disappear Our raft had no oars or paddles. We must have lost them when we shoved her off the port side of the top deck. We three prayed that others might be near us so that we could help them. We spotted one fellow. I leaned over the raft, two of my buddies hung onto my feet and I reached out as far as I could to help him. I was almost within reach of him, about 18 inches I should judge, when a heavy sea swallowed him and washed him away.

We heard screams, saw the little

TWO MEMBERS TAKE POSTS IN TOWN COUNCIL

With its membership complete for the first time in several months, borough council tackled a half dozen knotty problems at its October session, Monday evening.

The councilmen were asked to:

Settle a taxi stand dispute in center square;

Fix a policy on Tiber improvement work with regard to changes which may become necessary at the Gettysburg Throwing company plant;

Decide on a sewer line extension on Seminary avenue involving the possible opening of a new street;

Take steps to require pavement repairs in a number of sections of town and make decision in a number of less important matters.

Just before the council meeting Vernon Corle of the first ward and Fred A. Hummelbaugh of the second ward were sworn into office as councilmen by Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer. They will fill the unexpired terms of Wilbur J. Stalmsmith and Charles W. Steiner, who resigned. The appointments expire at the end of the year but both were nominated at the primaries for four-year terms.

Asks Sewer Extension

Dr. A. R. Wentz, president of the Lutheran Theological seminary, came before council to petition for a 78-foot extension of the Seminary avenue sewer line to the center of Hay street so that connections can be made with a new line to be built soon from the seminary dormitory to that intersection. He explained that the present line from the seminary connects with Springs avenue but is not satisfactory.

Doctor Wentz also told council that the seminary expects to present to the town a strip of land for the opening of Hay street from Seminary avenue to Buford avenue. The opening of Elm street was made possible by an earlier donation from the seminary, he pointed out.

The sewer committee was authorized to construct the new line if, in its discretion after an investigation, such a move seems advisable.

March Named

Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Gettysburg Recreation Board, reported on the successful season just closed at the local playground and thanked the council for their interest and financial support. He asked the early appointment of a successor to Councilman Ray M. Hoffman on the recreation board, whose term expires soon.

Burgess Pfeffer named Councilman George D. March to the position but Mr. March said he will not decide for several days whether he will accept the job.

Rufus Weaver, newly-licensed taxi operator in Gettysburg, came before council to ask a stand on center square. Council learned that both present stalls at the Delecto corner, formerly used by Charles Weikert and the late Charles "Butch" Hartman, are claimed by Weikert.

$870 NETTED AT ARMY FILM

The Army Emergency Relief Fund netted $870 from the premiere showing of "This Is The Army" at the Majestic theatre, Monday night, Dr. Walter S. Mountain, chairman of the local First Nighters' committee, announced today.

"I am very happy with the response of our movie-goers to our appeal to attend the premiere of this technicolor film," Doctor Mountain said. "We had a fine attendance and I am confident the Army Emergency Relief Fund officials will be pleased with our contribution to their cause."

Doctor Mountain expressed his appreciation to M. C. Jones, the C. H. Musselman company, the Victor Products corporation and the Gettysburg Elks club for their purchase of blocks of seats. These tickets were presented to aviation students at the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg college.

Captain John R. Coshey, commanding the Detachment, expressed his thanks to those who made it possible for a large number of the cadets to attend the premiere as guests.

Prior to the opening of the premiere the Detachment and band paraded through the main streets of town and sang a number of popular selections.

College Communion Service Wednesday

The tenth annual College Communion service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Christ Lutheran church, Dr. W. C. Waltemyer, chairman of the committee in charge, announced today.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college, and the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putnam, pastor of the church, will conduct the service. Ushers will be selected from the student body for the non-denominational student-faculty service.

The committee on arrangements for the affair, which has served since the inception of the joint communion, includes Dr. Waltemyer, C. E. Bilheimer and Dr. Rasmus S. Saby.

8 COMMITTEES RESHUFFLED IN TOWN COUNCIL

With the advent of two new members of council Monday evening, President H. M. Oyer reshuffled assignments to eight standing committees. His first set-up was changed after Councilman Fred A. Hummelbaugh, new member from the second ward, asked for a position on the sewer committee.

Re-assigned to the chairmanship of the Highway committee, Councilman Joseph D. Kendlehart reminded President Oyer of his determination, announced several months ago, to decline committee responsibilities after his recommendation in the Tawney-Bolen dispute was "vetoed" by council. Kendlehart interpreted Tawney's reinstatement as an indication of a "lack of confidence" in his ability as highway chairman.

Shealer to Act

In spite of Oyer's request that he continue to serve as highway chairman, Kendlehart insisted he would stand on his earlier decision. Oyer left Kendlehart as nominal chairman with the statement that if the latter would not serve, Councilman L. D. Shealer, a member of the committee, will continue as acting chairman.

The new committee assignments, with Troxell occupying a post on the ordinance committee so that Hummelbaugh could be on the sewer committee, follow:

Finance—Ray M. Hoffman, George D. March and Kendlehart.

Highway—Kendlehart, Shealer and Harry J. Troxell.

Safety—Troxell, March and Vernon Corle.

Property—Shealer, Hoffman and Hummelbaugh.

Utility—March, Hoffman and Corle.

Sewer—Weikert, Shealer and Hummelbaugh.

Health—Hummelbaugh, Kendlehart and Weikert.

Ordinance—Corle, Troxell and Weikert.

In each instance the chairman is listed first.

Accepts Position In Washington

Miss Margaret Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric F. Larson, Seminary ridge, has been appointed as a private secretary with the Solid Fuels Administration, Department of the Interior, at Washington, D. C.

Miss Larson, who has been employed at the Keith, Bigham and Markley law offices since 1937 will begin her new duties October 11. She plans to leave for Washington this week-end.

DECRIES LOSS OF AD SPACE

Harrisburg, Oct. 5 (AP)—Albert Coons, vice-president of Allied Stores corporation, told the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association today that "We believe it would be most unfortunate if total newspaper advertising were permitted to be drastically reduced at this time," because of the shortage of newsprint. "We do not think this would be wise when we consider the broad social aspect of the situation," he said.

"Never in the history of America have newspapers been so vitally important to the people and never has the nation and business needed the common sense and judgment of the people so much," declared W. G. Hobson, general sales manager of the Rodney E. Boone organization.

W. E. Eysinger, advertising manager of the Bradford newspapers, told the gathering, "the hometown newspaper is coming into its own after the war as an advertising medium because of the splendid victory program service it has rendered."

He urged that smaller and medium-sized papers spend more money on market service so that the agencies and advertising prospects will know the market possibilities.

LEGION HEADS ARE INDUCTED MONDAY NIGHT

Newly elected officers were installed and committees for the coming year appointed at Monday evening's meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

Deputy District Commander Horace E. Smiley was in charge of the installation service at which Commander Paul Spangler, First Vice Commander Wilbur Geiselman, Second Vice Commander Howard Strausbaugh, Adjutant Paul Rohrbach, Financial Officer James Howe, Chaplain Curvin Kroat, Historian William Allison, Sergeant-at-Arms Russell Shetter and Raymond Fridinger and Trustee William Timmins were inducted.

Committees named by the new commander include: Membership, Paul M. Rohrbach, chairman; Horace E. Smiley, Harry Lower, Preston Singley, Earl Hartzell, Joseph H. Heysey, J. Richard Hamme and Wilbur A. Geiselman; house, Morris Gitlin, chairman; Howard Strausbaugh, Raymond Fridinger, John Sanders and C. Arthur Brame.

Other Committees Legal, John P. Butt, Esq., chairman, LeRoy Winebrenner; finance, James Howe, chairman; Horace Smiley and Lawrence Oyer; publicity, Paul L. Roy and C. Richard Wolff; visiting, Joseph Smith, chairman, Howard Strausbaugh and Curvin Kroat; Americanism, Howard Sheffer, chairman; Lloyd Keefe and Lawrence Oyer; auditing, John Hewitt, chairman; Carl Menchey, Howard Sheffer and William Pensyl.

District delegates are Leon Altland, Wilbur Geiselman and Horace Smiley while alternate delegates are Curvin Kroat and James Howe. Joseph E. Smith was named service officer.

A goal of 300 members was set for the coming year. The total membership during the year ending two weeks ago was 253. Two new members, both veterans of World War 2, were elected Monday evening. They were James Ross Shetter and Burnell P. Buohl.

Thirty members attended the session.

ASK STATE AID FOR MINUTEMEN

C. Arthur Brame, Captain of the Adams county company of the Minutemen, is a member of a committee of leaders of the state guard reserve units of Pennsylvania who will meet with the state adjutant general to seek additional state aid for the Minutemen in the form of equipment, it was learned today.

Captain Brame met with forty officers of Minutemen throughout the state at Lewistown Sunday. At that meeting a resolution was drawn by the reserve leaders asking the state to give more recognition and equipment. The committee was appointed to place the needs of the Minutemen before the state officials. Captain Brame was also named to the resolution committee.

Captain F. M. Boettner, Butler, was elected chairman of the committee to visit the adjutant general.

The statewide session was called by Captain Carl Rothrock, Lewistown, for officers of all of the Minutemen units in the state.

A tabulation of the sizes of the various Minutemen organizations showed the Adams county contingent to be the largest in the state and the second best equipped, Captain Brame said today.

LOCAL OFFICER AT MILITARY SCHOOL

Lieutenant Donald M. Swope, son of Attorney and Mrs. J. Donald Swope, West Broadway, recently promoted to first lieutenant, has been transferred from Camp Wolter, Texas, to Fort Custer, Michigan.

At Fort Custer Lieutenant Swope will attend the School of Military Government of Occupied Territories and will likely be sent overseas upon completion of the course.

Lieutenant Swope was inducted into service as a private in March, 1942. Later he was ordered to the Officers' Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia. Before his transfer to Fort Custer he was adjutant of the 14th Infantry at Camp Wolter.

Hospital Report

John Weaver, Bonneauville, was treated at the Warner hospital Monday evening for a laceration of the scalp. He was struck by a flag-staff.

Sarah Metz, Fairfield, and Howard Flickinger, West Middle street, have been admitted as patients to the hospital. There were no discharges.

Report Gains In Party Strength

The Socialist party made the biggest proportionate gains in Adams county during the registration period between the primaries and the close of registration Saturday, clerks of the county registration commission pointed out today.

The Socialists increased to four, a total increase of 25 per cent over last year, while the Republicans who gained 111 new voters and the Democrats who gained 112 increased by only a small percentage. Eight new non-party voters were also registered during the period.

DISTRIBUTION IS MADE IN SHUTZ CASE BY BIXLER

With the mailing of checks this week by Referee Walter H. Compton, the curtain was rung down on the final phase of the settlement of the complicated financial affairs of H. W. and Miriam Gerth Shutz, former proprietors at the now closed Cross Keys Inn.

The checks distributed $45,608.25 to 11 creditors and exhausted the assets in the hands of Trustee B. E. Bixler. More than $100,000—possibly as much as $150,000—of Mr. Shutz's debts remain unpaid as the bankruptcy proceedings come to a close.

The only thing remaining to be done to write "finis" to the whole proceedings is the forthcoming final discharge of Mr. Bixler who served as receiver or trustee in the Shutz proceedings for the last year.

The final distribution of assets was made on the basis of an order signed by Mr. Compton, September 13, fully confirming his original report and amended audit with the exception of three items which were changed for the second time.

In the first audit and schedule of distribution, Compton allowed sums to the state Unemployment Compensation division and to the U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue but both items were changed in the amended audit after lawyers for C. H. Bittinger, one of the chief creditors objected to the original allowance.

No Exceptions This Time

In the distribution that finally has been made the state Unemployment Compensation division is allowed $344.67 and the federal claimant, $666.66. The additional $1,000 that was divided between them after the amended audit was deducted from Bittinger's share, leaving him $19,695.17.

The order by Mr. Compton on September 13 was followed by a letter September 28 to interested parties reporting that no exceptions or objections had been filed. He then ordered the trustee to distribute the assets in his possession. Bixler sent the checks to Compton last Friday.

Besides the sums given the state and federal agencies mentioned above and the amount given Bittinger, who is now the owner of the inn property, these sums are being paid out: the Littlestown National bank, $13,784.82; George D. Dear-dorf, $10,000, and 11 township tax claims totaling over $1,100.

WPB APPROVES LOCKER PLANT

The War Production Board at Washington has given its approval to the petition of the Arctic Locker System of York for the construction of a plant at Gettysburg, the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce directors were advised by telephone, Monday afternoon, as they gathered for their monthly meeting.

Approval of the county Agricultural War Board had been secured previously.

M. H. Chronister, member of the locker firm, said this morning that arrangements are being made to start work on the construction of the local plant "immediately." He expects it will be ready for use about January 1.

Chronister said his firm will exercise the option it holds on a lot owned by Dr. and Mrs. Louis E. King at the corner of Breckenridge and Franklin streets, selected as the site for the locker plant. A one-story, fully-insulated brick building will be erected measuring 40x71 feet. It will house about 600 individual lockers. Approximately 200 of them are yet available at the Chamber of Commerce office here, he said.

Contracts for the new structure are being let immediately, Chronister said. As many as possible will be let locally, he stated.

NOW IN ENGLAND

Staff Sergeant Allen Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Larson, Seminary Ridge, has arrived safely in England, his family here learned today.

SAYS BATHS IN TOWN A LUXURY 75 YEARS AGO

Baths were considered a luxury in Gettysburg in the latter part of the nineteenth century according to the history of the Gettysburg Water company presented Monday evening by Vernon B. Corle, manager, to the Rotary club at its regular meeting at the YWCA.

Droughts in 1874 and 1880 led water company officials of that day to "prohibit the use of water for bathing." Mr. Corle reported, with the company filing residents of the town $20 and cutting off their water supply in 1874 if it caught water customers sneaking a surreptitious bath and in 1880 ordering directly that "those consumers who have bath tubs are directed to cut off the supply of water to the baths."

No Water 38 Hours

June 1852 was another bad month for the water supply—so the company simply turned off all water for 38 hours until it could determine whether or not there were any leaks in the reservoir, said Corle.

"Now, when the water is turned off for 15 minutes we are flooded with complaints and telephone calls asking when the water will be turned on again," the speaker said.

The company's water supply comes from Marsh Creek which has a 57 square mile water shed extending as far as Kane's hill, west of Orrtanna and a short distance toward Biglerville.

The supply of water in Marsh Creek will be sufficient for the community for some time, the water company manager pointed out. Cutting of timber and cleaning of land has cut off much of the water supply once available in Marsh Creek.

No Pollution

The chance of pollution of Marsh Creek is not very great because few families live along the stream above the water company, Corle said. If at any time the stream became polluted, he asserted, the company would immediately have to find a new supply. In the meantime wells at the water company plant along Marsh Creek and near the reservoir on Cemetery hill could supply the town for a short time.

The local water company was organized in 1823 and is one of the oldest in Pennsylvania. Its original 36 members included Thaddeus Stevens and James Gettys, and the first reservoir, holding 35,000 gallons was located on High street on the site of the present United Brethren church. By 1846 the company had 26 consumers. The company now has 1,650 consumers.

President Frederick Tilberg presided at the meeting with about 30 members present.

STUDENTS PICK CLASS OFFICERS

William Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Green, Gettysburg R. 2, was elected president of the Student Council at Gettysburg high school during the recent elections there, it was announced today.

Samuel Weaver, son of Mrs. S. Galt Weaver, Gettysburg R. 1, was named student representative to the Athletic council at the same time. Both are seniors at the school.

Class officers elected—included, Senior class, president, Fred Griffin; vice president, John Horner; corresponding secretary, Doris Ramer; recording secretary, Anna Bollinger; treasurer, Margaret Bable.

Juniors, president, Norman Rasmussen; vice president, William Ogden; secretary, Harry Enleit; treasurer, Arlene Rohrbach.

Sophomores, president, Walter Mountain; vice president, David Rasmussen; secretary, Luther Sachs; and treasurer, Charles Rider.

Freshmen, president, Dean Stultz; vice president, Fred Rodgers; secretary, Jane Ramer, and treasurer, Elizabeth Blocher.

New Detail Of Cadets Arrives

Another contingent of aviation students arrived in Gettysburg Monday evening from a southern camp to begin their five months' training in academic study and flight instruction at Gettysburg college and the Gettysburg School of Aeronautics.

The contingent was met at the Reading station by Lieutenant Joseph R. Green, tactical officer at the 55th College Training Detachment; Sergeants Frederick Martin, Arthur Martin and Albert Corallo and Corporals James Barnhill and B. J. Serkin.

The new arrivals were escorted to Old Dorm where they were issued bed clothing and where they will be billeted during their stay here. Sergeant D. E. McMillan was in charge of the party while enroute here from the south.

Allies Blast Brenner Pass In 2-Ply Punch

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 5 (AP)—Powerful northwest African air armadas—some flying from Italian bases—in a thundering two-ply attack hammered Nazi airfields in Greece and blocked the German reinforced road into Italy by smashing bridges in the Brenner Pass rail city of Bolzano, it was announced today.

On the land in Italy, American troops who crossed the Calore river drove nine miles southwest of Benevento, yesterday to seize Montesarchio on the lateral road to Naples. Reinforcements were poured into British-held Termoli on the Adriatic.

Eighth Army troops have pushed more than 10 miles north of Termoli and now stand but 40 miles from Pescara, it was announced. Pescara is at the Adriatic end of the main lateral road running eastward from Rome.

Four to five German divisions along a line from coast to coast in Italy are putting up increased resistance to the Fifth and Eighth Army advances, it was stated officially today.

Liberators and Mitchells pounded at air bases in Greece, supporting the British defense of Coo in the Dodecanese, with the Mitchells making the attack from new bases in Italy itself. It was the first attack on Greece from this theater.

Beheaded

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 5 (AP)—Komai and Tusukioke; these are names that won't be forgotten by the men who fly for General Douglas MacArthur.

Komai and Tusukioke were the Japanese officers responsible for the beheading of a young American aviator according to the "Samurai code" of the Nipponese, the code of feudal warriors.

The shocking execution came to light of the diary of a captured Japanese soldier who had to admit in his bloody recital that the American was "more composed than I thought he would be."

(The execution was the first such violation of International Law reported since last April when it was announced that the Japanese had executed several American fliers captured in the bombing of Japan a year before.)

The diary, dated March 29, said the aviator was 23 years of age, an instructor in the transport command at Port Moresby, New Guinea, and was a member of a bomber crew shot down near Salamaua by anti-aircraft fire on March 18.

Red Front

London, Oct. 5 (AP)—Despite heavy autumnal rain which Moscow dispatches said were bogging down the Red Army offensive along the 750-mile eastern front, the Germans reported today a resumption of large-scale attacks in the Kuban bridgehead in the Caucasus and the eruption of "violent fighting" at the mouth of the Pripiet river and west of Smolensk.

The German communiqué asserted that Soviet attempts at a breakthrough in the Kuban were thwarted at several points of the northern end and that "enemy local attacks" fostered of the Eastern front were "frustrated."

The burst of activity in the critical Smolensk-Kiev sector was "still going on at present," the Germans said.

COUNCIL HEARS SIRENS NEEDED

The possibility that Gettysburg may get from one to four additional sirens for use in sounding fire and air raid alarm signals developed Monday evening at the October meeting of borough council when LeRoy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the borough council of defense, raised the question of the need for a more adequate alarm system here.

He said the Civilian Defense organization feels an additional siren in the western part of town is needed but Councilman Vernon Corle, who is a member of the local fire company, stated that organization favors four additional sirens, one in each quarter of town.

Corle said that night fire alarms frequently are answered only by firemen from one section of town while other sections have not been reached by the present siren.

Council President H. M. Oyer directed that information be obtained on the cost of purchase and installation of additional sirens and asked Councilmen Corle and George D. March to confer with the fire company on a method of financing the purchase. He suggested that income from the sale of local salvage, gathered by the firemen, might be used.

A/C Cadet Sebastian Hafer returned Monday morning to Norwich university, Northfield, Vermont, after spending a week here.

South Pacific

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 5 (AP)—Retreat from the central Solomons has become a hell of cannon fire and black water for the Japanese.

For more than a month the self-powered steel and wooden barges with which the enemy is seeking to remove from nearly-encircled Kolombangara Island a garrison once estimated at 10,000 men have been hunted down relentlessly by American patrol planes and torpedo boats. During September more than 100 were blasted from the water or wrecked ashore at their hide-out landing spots.

Now, as the attempted evacuation reaches its height, destroyers of Adm. William F. Halsey's South Pacific Naval Command have moved onto the scene and sent the rescue craft and their packed cargoes of troops to wholesale destruction.

On the night of Oct. 1-2 and again the following night Halsey's force intercepted whole flotillas of barges in Vella Gulf northwest of Kolombangara—the very waters where at least two Japanese cruisers and four destroyers were sent to the bottom in air and naval actions last summer.

More than 40 of the barges were sunk or shattered, a communiqué disclosed today. Uncounted scores—perhaps hundreds—of Japanese soldiers were killed or wounded or cast helplessly into the dark sea.

Bombings

London, Oct. 5 (AP)—Roaring over the blasted German city of Frankfurt less than 12 hours after American Flying Fortresses delivered a precision blow there, RAF heavy bombers last night dumped another load upon that war production center while a smaller fleet of night bombers struck Ludwigshafen.

The Germans could scarcely have had time to put out the fires and reorganize their defenses after the American daylight attack on the important Frankfurt war plane factory when the RAF returned to the scene and gave the city its 38th battering of the war, and the fourth major British blow in as many nights.

The great bomber fleet ranged over much of the Rhineland during the night delivering the main attack on Frankfurt—exceeding 500 tons—and a force of Lancasters made a subordinate raid on Ludwigshafen which, with its twin city of Mannheim across the river, has been blasted 59 times previously.

From all of these operations, which included Mosquito attacks on other objectives in northwest Germany, 12 airplanes failed to return.

AUTUMN RAINS BRING WELCOME LULL IN RUSSIA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press War Analyst)

Nature at her best generally can beat man at his worst, and the autumn deluge finally has produced almost impassable seas of mud which have brought the fighting on the Russo-German front to a near standstill in many sectors of the thousand-mile line.

This was to be expected, however, and I'm sure that readers of this column already had their rubbers on and umbrellas ready, having received warning weeks ago. The downpour is no phenomenon such as evoked the observation from Caius Marius—the doughty Roman who a century B. C., also beat the Germans—that "extraordinary rains pretty generally fall after great battles." The Russian flood and mud are fixtures for this time of year—war or no war.

From now until the ground freezes in mid-November much of the eastern front will be a morass. There will be fighting, probably some of it very fierce, but a general lull is in order—a godsend to the fighting men of both sides who for months have been under a strain almost beyond human endurance.

Huge Offensive Ahead

This slackening off in the fighting will give both sides a chance to pull up their socks. Already the Russians appear to be getting set for a big winter offensive which will capitalize the sensational gains of the summer. This can't come until the ground freezes, and last year the Muscovites didn't get going until November 19.

Even at that date the big rivers aren't well frozen, though the ground is hard enough for the movement of troops and equipment. For instance, the Dnieper, astride which much of the fighting front now rides, doesn't freeze in most places until mid-December or later.

Reflecting the possibility of another huge offensive, the Moscow newspaper Pravda describes a fighter plane factory where production has more than doubled in a year—without additional equipment and with five per cent fewer workmen. One of the planes produced at this plant is a new wooden-fuselage fighter which is regarded as among the Soviet's best warplanes.

Staggering Losses

While we are on the subject of offensives and warplanes, I've been asked to explain why it is that the Nazis haven't been bombing Moscow and other Russian cities well behind the fighting front, and why the Reds haven't been attacking German cities like Berlin.

Well, there are several reasons. Foremost we must place the fact that the fighting which has been raging along the Russian front since last winter has day by day been producing some of the most terrific air battles of the war. To give a single example at random, on May 17 of this year Moscow announced that the Red Air Force had destroyed 1,300 Nazi planes in two weeks. The Russian casualties weren't given. The losses in men and machines for many months past have been staggering.

In short, the demand for fighting planes and bombers along the front has been so heavy that neither the Russians nor the Germans appear to have had either time or equipment for many long-range adventures elsewhere. Last year the Russians, in cooperation with the British, did do considerable long-range bombing.

Emphasized Fighters

In August, for instance, the Red army raided Berlin at least twice. They also bombed Stettin, the Baltic supply ports of Danzig and Königsberg, Bucharest and other Rumanian cities, as well as the oil field at Ploesti. However, most of the time the Russians have been too far away from places like Berlin (800 to 1,000 miles) to reach them with anything except the biggest long-distance machines.

The Germans, on the other hand, have been near enough to Moscow and many other Russian cities to bomb them easily if distance were the only problem. The Nazis did bomb Moscow until they discovered it too costly an operation, the Red capital reputedly having the most powerful anti-aircraft defense of any city in the world. Then, too, as Hitler was forced into a defensive war on all fronts by the combined Allied operations he had to sacrifice manufacture of heavy bombers for fighters.

Ask Revision Of Ruling On Salary

Pittsburgh, Oct. 5 (AP)—A petition for revision of a new ruling that salesmen earning more than $5,000 this year shall be restricted to their 1942 commissions will be laid before the Treasury department in Washington today by the Tri-State Commercial Travelers association.

Lee Wiseman, executive secretary, said the ruling was "unfair" as many salesmen actually lost money in 1942 because orders could not be delivered and said this year they would "have a chance to make a few dollars more because merchandise is more plentiful and conditions are not so tight."

PROMOTED TO MAJOR

Gordon Whitecraft, a graduate of Gettysburg college with the class of 1933, has been promoted to major. He is reported now stationed somewhere in England.

LIONS RECEIVE NEW MEMBERS

Two new members were received and club activities for the coming year were discussed at a business meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club, Monday evening, at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. Committee chairmen reported and programs for future meetings were considered.

The new members are Carl A. Westerdahl, local insurance agent, and Robert B. Rau, secretary to Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson at Gettysburg college. They were introduced by Lions James Shenk and Milton R. Remmel, respectively. Westerdahl was assigned to the club's Boy Scout committee and Rau to the boys' and girls' work committee, headed by Henry T. Bream.

Committee chairmen reporting Monday evening included: Finance, M. P. Hartzell; attendance, Glenn L. Bream; program, D. E. Hess; military affairs, Dean W. E. Tilberg; boys' and girls' work, Henry T. Bream; blind work and welfare, R. D. Wickerham; education and safety, L. C. Keefe; community betterment, Fred G. Pfeiffer; publicity, Milton R. Remmel, and greeter committee, C. Paul Cessna. The reports covered club and community activities being planned or already underway.

The local Lions received an invitation to attend a ladies' night planned by the Upper Adams Lions club October 19 at the Richard McAllister hotel in Hanover.

Twenty-five Lions attended with President Hugh C. McIlhenny presiding.

Countian, Sicilian Vet, Hospitalized

PFC Homer J. Yingling, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Yingling, Lombard street, Littlestown, who participated in the fighting in Africa and Sicily, is a patient in the Deshon General hospital, Butler, undergoing observation and treatment. The War department has notified his parents. He is believed to be suffering from shock.

PFC Yingling was taken by plane from Sicily to North Africa and was later brought to the United States. He arrived in New York on September 22 and was a patient in the Haloran General hospital, Staten Island, New York, until last week, when he was removed to Butler. His mother was informed that she may visit him next Saturday.

PFC Yingling has been in the service since May, 1942. He was overseas for 13 months. Since arriving in this country he has written his parents, saying "I'm glad to be in the States again. I can't hardly believe I am here, but all the buildings are standing so I guess I am."

Before entering the service, PFC Yingling was employed by the Littlestown Hardware & Foundry company, Littlestown.

Must Okay State Workers' Cases

Harrisburg, Oct. 5 (AP)—Claims of state government department heads that key employees should be deferred as essential must be approved by a special committee named by Governor Martin before appeals are filed with draft boards, a high state official disclosed Monday.

"The governor wants to be sure no department head will abuse the privilege in claiming deferments for workers and no appeals will be made until this committee reviews the facts in each application," said the informant as the group met to draft a uniform policy on appeals.

The official, who declined quotation by name, said the committee represents health, manpower and military phases of the problem, with Gen. C. R. Raynolds, director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis control and former U. S. Surgeon General, as chairman, and Frank Boall, Deputy Secretary of Labor and Industry, and Col. Frank A. Weber, deputy adjutant general, as the other members.

He added that only department heads, as employers, can apply for deferments.

Property Transfers

Boyd H. and Ethel L. Rinehart, Franklin township, sold to Confeys Brown, Baltimore, a 39-acre property in Franklin township.

Emma M. Sprengle, Hamiltonban township, sold to W. B. and Pauline V. Shank, Liberty township, four properties, all timber land, containing 109 acres in Hamiltonban township.

George W. and N. Effie Miller, Cumberland township, sold to Mary E. Grove and Matilda O'Connor, Gettysburg, a two-acre property in Cumberland township.

Guard Unit Will Meet On Thursday

The county State Guard Reserve company will meet hereafter on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock instead of Friday evenings, Captain C. Arthur Brame announced today.

The change in meeting nights was made to allow the Minutemen to attend the athletic contests at Gettysburg high school on Friday nights. The next meeting will be held Thursday at the armory.

Upper Communities

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Benson, Guernsey, left today for Winter Haven, Florida, where they will spend the next six months before moving to their newly-purchased farm near McKnightstown.

Mrs. Rasmus S. Sahy, Carlisle street, left today for Akron, Ohio, where she will spend some time with relatives.

Patty Guise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Guise, of Biglerville, suffered injuries when she was struck by a car while crossing the street Monday. One stitch was required in her head. She also suffered brush burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Warner and son, Fred, and Mrs. Grace Funt, of Biglerville, spent Sunday in Baltimore with Mr. and Mrs. Willis McCadden. Mrs. Warner and Fred remained with the McCaddens for a visit.

Miss June Heller, of Harrisburg, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Heller, of Biglerville.

Mrs. Wilmer Bream, Carlisle road, and Mrs. E. A. Meyer, of Biglerville, spent Monday in Harrisburg.

Total bond sales at the Biglerville post office during September amounted to $3,281.25, Earl Carey, postmaster announced today.

Miss Sara March, of Harrisburg, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David March, Gettysburg R. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Knouse and son, of Carlisle, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed, of Biglerville.

Mrs. Lloyd Ecker, of Heidlersburg, spent the week-end with her son, Private Harold Ecker, of Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

Miss Reba Taylor, Baltimore, was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce B. Taylor, Biglerville, over the week-end.

Mrs. William B. Wilson's class of the Benderville Methodist Sunday school will meet Wednesday evening at the parsonage instead of Thursday evening as previously planned.

Mrs. Viola Ecker, Biglerville, is confined to her home on account of illness.

The Volunteer class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The hostess committee includes Miss Jean Thomas, Mrs. Blaine G. Walter, Mrs. Edwin Minter and Mrs. Wesley Hummer.

Miss Edna Lawver, York, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lawver, Biglerville.

Miss Frances Bucher, Baltimore, was at her home in Biglerville over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, Aspers, visited their son, Owen, at the Harrisburg hospital today. Their son is reported in a critical condition.

Mrs. Henry Ligon, Florence, Alabama, is a guest of Mrs. George S. Forney, Biglerville.

TWO DOCTORS LEAVE COUNTY

Two more doctors have left Adams county.

Dr. J. L. Boyer, who maintained an office at Arendtsville since 1930, and for a number of years has been in charge of X-ray work at the Warner hospital and served as assistant to Dr. Bruce N. Wolff there, on Monday began an eight-month course in radiology at the University of Pennsylvania, doing part of his post-graduate work at the university and part at the Graduate hospital in Philadelphia.

Dr. A. B. Erlain, who has been practicing at Cashtown for the last seven years, closed his office Thursday and began work as an army doctor at Richmond, Virginia. He has been commissioned as a lieutenant. Mrs. Erlain will join Dr. Erlain in the near future as soon as they can find a residence at Richmond.

Completes Course On Engine Repair

Pfc. Robert W. Little, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Little, 340 South Washington street, graduated recently from a course in the overhaul of aircraft engines conducted by the Army Air Forces Training Command at Stewart Technical school, Lynbrook, Long Island.

Little, who graduated from an airplane mechanics school in the AAF Training Command before undertaking the advanced course here, was promoted to private first class in recognition of his aptitude for specialized work. Only men who receive marks well above average in general alertness and mechanical aptitude tests are selected for technical training.

Arendtsville

The Women's Missionary society of the Trinity Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. H. C. Lady Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock instead of at the church as previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Orner, Miss Evelyn Orner and Mr. and Mrs. John Raffensperger were Sunday guests of Mrs. La Rue Deardoff, Hanover.

Mrs. George Knouse and son, Mark, of Carlisle, attended the funeral of Mrs. Knouse's brother, George Hoffman, Monday.

Prof. and Mrs. Charles Smith, of Benton, visited here over the week-end.

BEGIN POSTWAR PROJECT HERE

Indicating their intention of instituting an active postwar planning policy for Gettysburg, the Chamber of Commerce directors instructed their secretary to secure from the state Department of Commerce all literature and information available on community surveys and postwar planning.

Procedure for such an undertaking was outlined to Chamber members last week at a dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg by Ralph W. Cummings, Commerce department representative.

The Chamber also directed their Civic Affairs committee, headed by Arthur E. Hutchison, to represent them at a meeting next Monday evening of civic organizations when juvenile recreation facilities for the community will be considered.

Plans also were made for the next dinner meeting of the members of the Chamber. It will be held Tuesday evening, October 26, with the place and program to be announced.

President Mares Sherman presided with Directors Henry Garvin, Ralph Z. Oyley, Vernon Corie, Joseph E. Codori and Edmund W. Thomas in attendance.

SHIP 400 LBS. OF SILK HOSE

Four hundred pounds of silk and nylon stockings were shipped Monday by Mrs. J. P. Dalby, chairman of the silk and nylon salvage committee, to conclude the drive for stocking rags inaugurated in the county over a year ago.

The stockings were shipped from all parts of the county to Gettysburg to be forwarded to the Defense Supply Corporation in New York state and did not include several hundred pounds of stockings shipped directly by those community salvage committees having 100 pounds of stockings or over.

The drive for silk and nylon stockings in the United States came to an end September 30, with national salvage officials determining that there are not enough silk and nylon stockings still in existence to warrant continuing their salvage. The manufacture of the stockings was halted about two years ago.

Sent from the county during the duration of the drive were about four tons of stockings, it was estimated today.

Miss Weaver Picked For Exchange Course

Miss Iva Weaver has been selected from the civilian personnel at Camp Atterbury, Indiana, to attend the New York University School of Retailing for a six-week Army Exchange Service Civilian Training Course. The course will include operations, orientation, merchandizing, accounting and personnel.

Miss Weaver, who formerly resided on Baltimore street, graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1932 where she was a member of the Honor society. She has been employed at Camp Atterbury since June, 1942.

Ensign Schwartz, College Grad, Dies

Ensign James William Schwartz, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Schwartz, Frederick, died Saturday "as the result of an airplane accident," according to a telegram received by his parents Sunday from the commanding officer of the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Schwartz graduated from Gettysburg college in 1939 and served as assistant editor of "The Gettysburgian," college weekly. He enlisted in the Naval Reserves in July, 1940.

In addition to his parents he is survived by a sister, Miss Elizabeth Schwartz.

FIGHTING IRISH, MICHIGAN LEAD IN FIRST POLL

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—If you are trying to figure out the winner of Saturday's football clash between Notre Dame and Michigan you might want to take the advice of 108 of the nation's sports writers who list the Irish as the country's best and Michigan second.

The same experts also tried to help you decide who is going to win the Navy-Duke scuffle at Baltimore the same evening by placing the Middies in fourth on the first Associated Press poll of the young season and the Blue Devils in fifth. Army grabbed the third rung.

Fifty-three of the voters rated the Irish, winners of both their games to date by top-sided scores, as the No. 1 outfit while 36 decided that the Wolverines were the best.

No All-Civilian Teams

None of the other eleven among the 35 to receive consideration drew more than four first place votes with Pennsylvania, Purdue, Iowa Pre-Flight, Minnesota and Southern California rounding out the top 10.

Not an all-civilian football team made the select circle. Army, Navy and the Iowa Pre-Flights, of course, are manned entirely by military personnel while the remaining seven all are listed as "Navy" schools.

Ten points were given for each first place vote in the balloting, with nine awarded for second and so on down the list.

The leading eleven with total points (first place votes in parentheses):

First Ten	Points
Notre Dame (53)	977
Michigan (36)	880
Army (4)	631
Navy (3)	616
Duke (4)	575
Penn (1)	434
Purdue (2)	392
Iowa Pre-Flight (2)	251
Minnesota (1)	237
Southern California	179

Second ten: Southwestern 123, Great Lakes 112, Memphis Naval Air Technicians 95, Dartmouth 59, Del Monte Pre-Flight (2) 57, March Field 25, Louisiana State 24, Ohio State 23, Northwestern 18, College of Pacific 17.

Also runs: North Carolina 13, Colorado college 12, Georgia Tech 12, Washington 10, Holy Cross 8, Texas 8, North Texas Aggies 8, Tulsa 6, California 6, Princeton 2, St. Mary's Pre-Flight 1, Oklahoma 1, Texas Christian 1, Texas A and M 1, Georgia 1.

BOBBY RUFFIN DEFEATS JACK

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Bobby Ruffin, a "fancy Dan" from Long Island, is in line today for a shot at the lightweight title as a result of his upset victory over the ex-lightweight champion, Beau Jack.

Ruffin, so little regarded in the betting that the odds went as high as 10 to 1, punched out an unanimous decision over the former Augusta, Ga. shoeshine boy before a world series eve crowd of 14,449 at Madison Square Garden last night. The gross gate was $43,429.

Wearing a bandage around his right knee, the Beau never got a clear shot at the fencing and counter-punching Ruffin, who waged one of the best fights of his career. The Beau did cut Ruffin's left eye in the eighth round, but for the most part Ruffin made the Beau look silly on repeated wild swings that swished harmlessly through the air as Ruffin ducked out of range.

Ruffin weighed 135½ to Jack's 140½. The winner will have to wait for his title chance until the return championship bout between the Beau and Champion Bob Montgomery, of Philadelphia, on Nov. 19. Promoter Mike Jacobs announced Jack's defeat would not interfere with the title match as it has been signed for months.

Montgomery, who originally was slated to meet Jack last night, but to withdraw because of an infected tooth, watched the bout from the ringside.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Bobby Ruffin, 135½, New York, outpointed Beau Jack, 140½, Augusta, Ga., (10).

Newark — Johnny Carter, 163, Philadelphia, outpointed Johnny Brown, 164½, New York (10).

Providence, R. I. — Jackie Wilson, 125½, Pittsburgh, outpointed Larry Bolvin, 128, Providence (10).

New Haven, Conn. — Herman Badger, 171, New Haven, Conn., outpointed Aaron Eatman, 171, South Norwalk, Conn., (8).

Baltimore. — Curtis Sheppard, 213, Pittsburgh, knocked out Wally Cross, 200, Newark, (1).

Springfield, Mass. — Sonny Horne, Niles, Ohio, outpointed Jerry Maloni, Springfield, (middleweights) (10).

Washington. — Henry Leffra, 130, outpointed Johnny Cockfield, 128, New York, (10).

Cpl. Billy Conn With Air Forces

With the Second Army in Tennessee, Oct. 5 (AP)—Cpl. Billy Conn, former world's light-heavyweight boxing champion, has been transferred from an armored engineer company on maneuvers here to the Army Air Forces for training as an aerial gunner.

Conn, considered the leading contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, joined the Army over a year ago, after he dropped a match to Louis.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—A peculiar thing about this World Series is that the experts who have been watching American league baseball all season generally are picking the Cards to repeat while the National league followers go for the Yanks.

That apparently reflects their opinion of 1943 baseball while they are still picking on the basis of what it used to take to win. . . . Billy Southworth still is playing the percentages in naming Max Lanier to start today; lefties are supposed to be the Yanks' weakness so he'll fire southpaws until something cracks. . . . Joe McCarthy, as usual, leads with his ace. . . . and with that two-day interval after the clubs leave here, it'll give one or the other the chance to become the first three-game winner since Stan Coveleskie in 1920.

Down the middle. . . . One way of figuring the strength of a ball club is to rate them on the catcher-center field axis. . . . A tipoff on this may be that the Cards have completed 180 double plays this season and the Yanks have grounded into 137, just four short of a record.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Branch Rickey and Chuck Dressen sat together at the Garden fights last night—which can be interpreted any way you please. . . . but don't expect any announcement from Rickey about Leo Durocher's status as Dodger manager until the series furor has died down. . . . Latest item on the unconfirmed report market is that Sid Luckman has signed up with the armed forces and several other Bears are about to leave Chicago. . . . Looking over the week-end results, Pres. Jack Mara of the grid Giants announced: "We scored four touchdowns—Eshmont made two and Principe two."

The sad part of it, to Jack, is that Eshmont is playing for Del Monte Pre-Flight and Principe for the Sampson Naval Station. . . . Bobby Ruffin's victory over Beau Jack reminded some of the more literate fight followers of Harry Markson's favorite scrambled quote: "Punches roll off him like a duck takes to water."

NO SALES

Army and Navy will play at West Point.

Where they certainly never will sell out the joint.

SERVICE DEPT.

All in a name: Marine Cletus "Boots" Poffenberger, who gave major league managers plenty of headaches, pitched for the "Yanks" in the Parris Island league this summer. He won 15 of his team's 51 victories, lost only four games and hit 377. . . . Kessler Field, Mississippi, will have a post football team this season—just a year after a big-time grid program was ruled out. . . . Capt. Arlo Klum and Lieut. Herman Rohrig have organized a squad of permanent party men and are trying to book some home games. . . . When the Fort Sheridan WAC contingent heard that a post grid team was being organized, Pfc. Lucille Turigliatto suggested this cheer: "Limburger, Roquefort, Philadelphia cream; yeah, Fort Sheridan, you're a scream."

POINTED REMARKS

W. Henry Johnston, Lawrence college publicity director, has figured it out that Marquette's gridders will be 2.484 points better than Lawrence Saturday. . . . He's figuring the number of red points at the prevailing rates for beef and the Hilltoppers will have a considerable weight advantage.

THROWN FOR A LOSS

To hear Manager Chick Wergeles tell it, yesterday must have been Beau Jack's unlucky day. . . . First he weighed more than agreed upon and Bobby Ruffin's followers insisted on a larger "cut" in the receipts to fix that. . . . Then there was an argument over dressing rooms and they had to toss a coin for the favored cubicle. . . . and finally Beau lost the fight. . . . "We won the toss," moaned Chick, "but that's the only thing we won all day."

HEAVY PREVIEW

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—Ray Morrison's Temple university footballers, who tackle Army at West Point Saturday, will have a preview of the heavy artillery tonight when they scrimmage against the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Steagles of the National Football league.

SUNBURY LOSES

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—Pottsville high school defeated Sunbury High 19-0 in a Big 15 Conference game before 7,000 spectators here last night.

WORLD SERIES ATTRACTS HUGE 1ST DAY CROWD

By SID FEDER

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals and some 70,000 just-plain-fans moved in on Yankee Stadium today for the start of a World series that was as close as butter on your bread to everyone except the gambling guys betting on the brawl.

With Spud Chandler, the ex-Georgia footballer and lately hot-test pitcher in the American league, a top-sided 5 to 8½ choice to give lefty Max Lanier a lesson in the plain and fancy art of throwing a baseball in the opening shindig, the Bronx Bombers drove into the annual fall fuss the shortest price they've been in more than a decade.

But while the gambling guys put the Yanks on a 5 to 7½ pedestal to win back the world championship in this return match with the St. Louis swiftness—whether it takes four games or the legal limit—just about everyone else (including the hundreds still looking for series tickets and a place to sleep) were making this return match of the 1942 taffy-pull strictly a case of "you pay your money and you take your choice."

From all angles it was a hair-pulling "rattle" between the speed and all-round hitting of the "Sweethearts of St. Lou" against the noted pitching edge and the extra-base blasting of the Bombers.

Bleacherites Wait

The annual tea-party was shooting at the 69,902 "high" mark hit by the Cards and the Yanks in their Sunday game here a year ago. All reserved and box seats were sold and the bleacher waiting line formed at the right window for 26 hours before starting time at 1:30 p. m. today.

The choice of Lefty Lanier, with a record of 15 wins against 7 losses, caused National league fans insisting that Billy Southworth named Max as his first finger because he's been steadier lately than Mort Cooper, the Cards' 21-game winner.

On the other hand, the American leaguers, always grabbing at an "angle," insist that the only reason Lanier became the fair-haired flinger for game No. 1 was because neither Southworth nor Cooper wanted any part of Chandler, whose earned-run average for the just concluded campaign is the lowest in two decades in the junior loop.

However, the St. Louis larrupers are fielding a lineup headed by Stan Musial, the 356 batting king of the National loop, and the Cards have speed to burn.

Yanks Have Edge

To all of this, the Yanks, riding into the series with the best slingers in either league, point out that nobody can run to first base—every batter has to hit his way there.

On form, the Yanks have an edge in both ends of the infield and more particularly in left field, where Charley Keller is the blockbuster. King Kong has hit 31 homers this season, leading the American leaguers to their 19th straight campaign of whacking 100-or-more round-trippers.

Not only was a record-wrecking crowd on tap for today's opener, but there was a very good chance the boys and girls might put on a repeat attendance performance tomorrow and Thursday at the Stadium. After that, the two outfits shift to St. Louis, and even the oldest inhabitants insisted that anything might happen there—especially this time.

PUNTS-PASSES

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—I fear for Pennsylvania in its game with Dartmouth Saturday. Coach Ank Scanlan of Holy Cross told the season's first session of the Maxwell Football club.

Scanlan, who used only 11 players in holding Dartmouth to a 3-0 score and only 12 until the last three minutes of the Brown game, shrugged aside his manpower problem. "In the old days men used to play a full 60 minutes," he said, "why not now?"

State College, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—Two members of Penn State's first string eleven are playing for their third college. Bill Smith, end, saw service with Notre Dame and Cincinnati, and Tackle Bill Kyle, with Notre Dame and Pittsburgh.

Lewisburg, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—Three Bucknell university players are taking their first crack at football after shining in other sports. Tackle Wayne Steele was a crew man at Syracuse, Halfback John Rybinski was a track man at Manhattan and Halfback Frank Burns played basketball at Bucknell.

OPEN RESCUE SCHOOL

Pittsburgh, Oct. 5 (AP)—With rescue chiefs from 46 cities in 14 states, from Canada and from the Navy taking part, a rescue school entered its second day here, under auspices of the National Office of Civilian Defense and the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Demonstrations including rescues from the rubble of a "bombed" building will continue until October 14.

TO MARK JUBILEE

New York, Oct. 5 (AP) — New York's famed metropolitan opera will open its Diamond Jubilee season Nov. 22 with the presentation of "Boris Godunoff." Edward Johnson, director announces. Seven new singers will be introduced. Six of them are American. Among the new recruits is Donald Dame, Titusville, Pa., tenor.

PENN DRILLING FOR DARTMOUTH

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Penn football team that rolled up 88 points against Princeton and Yale shed all delusions of grandeur today as it pitched into all-out practice for its first real test Saturday against Dartmouth.

Horace Hendrickson, Penn back-field coach who scouted Dartmouth in its easy victory over Coast Guard academy Saturday, came back with a load of superlatives about the size, strength and ability of the big green team, and gave it to the boys straight from the shoulder yesterday.

"Dartmouth has one of the best backfields in the country," said Hendrickson, ticking them off—Joe Andrejco, formerly of Fordham; Don Kasprzak, of Columbia; Harold Clayton, Andover graduate, and Bob Mangene, of Boston college.

"Four other backs are almost as good," he added. "Kasprzak threw 12 passes against Coast Guard and 11 of them clicked."

With the exception of Joe McGlone, who suffered a fractured collar bone in the Yale game, Head Coach George Munger's squad was back at full strength today.

The embryo of the sandhill crane is equipped with an egg tooth which is used to crack open the shell at birth.

COLUMBUS NEARS THIRD LOOP TITLE

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—The Columbus Red Birds stand today only two games removed from their third straight Little World Series title, thanks largely to a couple of ration-conscious hurlers.

The Birds (AA) defeated the Syracuse Chiefs (IL) last night 5-2, behind Southpaw Erwin (Preacher) Roe's six-hit twirling. Ted Wilks, in a somewhat more polished performance, shut out Syracuse with a half-dozen blows in the opening contest.

Columbus, held to five hits in the opener, collected 11 safe blows off three Chiefs' hurlers last night.

Manager Nick Cullop's boys now hold a wide advantage in the junior classic, having gotten by Manager Jewel Ens' two mound aces—Millard (Dixie) Howell in the first game, Cuban Tom de Lacruz in the second.

Stand In Line All Night For Series

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Three Pennsylvanians were among the first ten in line who waited all night for tickets to the World series opener.

George Kopil, 40-year-old Clairton, Pa., steelworker, who held second place, said "There's no question that St. Louis will repeat."

However, Mrs. Peter Borota, of Steelton, Pa., the fourth customer, was a Yankee fan. She hoped to get

R.C. BUSY WITH HOME SERVICE

The home service department of the county Red Cross had one of the busiest months in its history during September when 120 cases were handled by the local officials. Thirty-three of the cases are pending with some phases still incomplete, it was stated.

Seventy-five cases involved members of the U. S. Army; 14, members of the Navy, 20 civilians, and 11 ex-service men. Four were inquiries regarding the location of service men; five were messages to and from people in enemy countries; three involved compilation of social histories; 27 involved obtaining furloughs for service men; 18 were for information only; two investigations were made for Army emergency relief; 13 investigations were for dependency discharges; one report was made to the Veterans administration, and three others involved miscellaneous investigations. Three were claims by ex-service men for assistance, and 12 involved changes in dependency status.

Ten were for financial assistance, 15 home problems, nine for medical care and five were referred to other agencies.

Carl Pennington, of Harrisburg, Pa., eighth in line, wanted to see the Yanks win. He never saw a World series game before.

Students Provide Xmas Menu Covers

Two hundred and fifty sailors will find their Christmas dinner tables brightened by menu covers made by art students in Adams county high schools.

That number of covers is being made at the present time by the students in the county's five high schools under direction of the county Junior Red Cross. The amount is the county's share of 150,000 covers to be made in this area by art students for the U. S. Navy. The covers must be completed by October 28, last day on which they can be turned in at the county Red Cross office at the court house for shipment to National headquarters, it was stated.

CRANKMIRE ON POSTWAR TIME

Said Old Crankmire: "When it's over—in a year or two at worst—
They'll be looking out for youngsters who won't think of money first.

When they've done with making cannon and are back to normal trade.

They will drop a lot of fellows who are now being over-paid.

And the old-time rules will govern,
when they're sorting goats
from sheep.

They'll get rid of all the loafers, but the workers they will keep.

"These are furious times," said Crankmire, "with so many boys away.

Men must take what's left, nor quibble over hours or rate of pay.

With our finest courage fighting land and sea and in the sky.

They must run the lathes and benches with whatever help is nigh.

But, my boy, don't let this fool you,
when the guns at last are stilled.

The best jobs that are open with the best men will be filled.

"This war won't last forever! Soon or late it's sure to end.

Then, success and pride and fortune on man's labor will depend.

Then the job will seek the worker and the task will seek the hand.

And then only skillful workers will

So, I'm pleading with you youngsters, work and study hard to learn.

For the time is surely coming when a boy must work to earn."

BUNTS

Nothing is more discouraging to a bred-in-the-wool baseball fan than an easy bunt that puts the player out—without a chance for a run to the home plate. On the other hand those straight, low hit liners that skim over the heads of the infield, with power and speed, what a hand they get!

Bunts never won a baseball game.
And they never win anything in life either! And yet, what a horde of human beings, day in and day out, seem satisfied with their little bunts —their half-tries, and their half-hearted efforts.

I have seen many a man put out on strikes in a baseball game who gave me great satisfaction, because he struck at each ball as though he meant that it should be a home run, even though he never connected—and because he swung that bat of his with spirit! Who knows but what that spirit of his raised the morale of the next man up to contribute the winning run! It's the effort, spirit, and heart, that we all put into the task at hand that measures our value before the world.

Mere bunts even lower the morale of the man making them. But he who goes to his job to give every last ounce of power and determination that he has, will not often fail —and when he does fail, it will only be temporary.

I have seen the great Babe Ruth struck out in a baseball game. And I have listened to the unfair boos and hisses at such a time. But he lives as the King of them all in home runs! He always had a home run ready "up his sleeve!" And he delivered them, when most needed.

There are any number of magnificent failures in this world—men and women who gave their all, with all that they had and yet did not reach their goal. But who shall say that they did not earn the applause of all? Who is to question that failure?

The lesson to learn from the bunt is that it doesn't count. But the genuine effort to do something that

Local Miscellany: William A. Mc-Ilhenny is digging an artesian well

ship.

The sale of the furnishings of the Springs Hotel last week amounted to over $2,000. During the various proprietorships all the silver knives had disappeared.

A coaching party from Philadelphia arrived here on Monday. The party consisted of eleven men and women. They left Philadelphia Wednesday.

The Eckert property on York street was bid up to $1,010, and withdrawn.
The public gas lamps on our streets have been capped, and the glass tops removed to the Town Hall.

The electric lights ordered by the town council for street lighting were turned on, on the evening of the 1st.
They are thirty-four in number, of which four are on the public square.

The others are chiefly at the intersection of streets. They are to "run from sunset to sunrise every night," and are to be of twelve hundred candlepower. "Strictly cloudless nights" only are to be excepted.

The cost to the borough for this degree of lighting will be $2,040, payable monthly. The lighting hitherto done by gas and lamps, which did not run throughout the night, cost an average of about $1,000 a year. The electric contract is for five years.

Football: On Saturday the college team layed Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., and was defeated by the small score of 16 to 0. This is excellent. It ought to be a source of gratification to every student and alumnus. Cornell has one of the strongest teams in the country, ranking with Harvard, Yale, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania; and that the local men, and in their first game, were able to hold their opponents to but three touchdowns, would seem to put them in the class with Lehigh and Lafayette.

But—as usual, Pennsylvania State college got the credit in a number of city newspapers. . . .
Pennsylvania College is the charter name of the institution, and Pennsylvania it is likely to remain until the day of doom; but that is no reason why, among the students, it should not be called Gettysburg college.

A word to the managers: Schedule every game as Gettysburg college. You owe it to the players, if to no one else.

PNPA ASSURES
READERS NEWS;
MAY SLASH ADS

Harrisburg, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, meeting Monday to discuss wartime problems assured readers they will still get the news even if the press has to ration advertising space because of the newsprint shortage.

Manager William N. Hardy said he believed all publishers "are of the opinion they must maintain service to the readers and keep up the news."

Advertising men opened the two-day PNPA conferences with the prospects of space rationing as a major topic. Eastern and Central Pennsylvania publishers join tomorrow in the sessions held in connection with National Newspaper Week observance.

May Ration Ads
Hardy said if Chairman Donald
M. Nelson of the War Production Board is right on predictions of drastic cuts in newsprint supplies,
"there certainly will have to be rationing of advertising and everything else."

The PNPA official noted that some papers already have limited advertising space but added, "there is considerable opposition to it." Saturday editions have been eliminated by a small number of papers with circulation of less than 10,000, he said, and one or two dailies froze circulation, "but quite a few publishers are against that."

Taking increased amounts of space away from classified advertising in order to effect newsprint savings was protested by the advertising conference's first speaker, James F. O'Connor, classified manager of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

"Fundamental Ad Medium"
"Recognition must be given to the fact that classified lineage has increased solely because of the vital service it is performing for individuals and industries whose normal routine has been thoroughly upset by wartime changes," he said.

He objected to a proposed nine-column newspaper as a space saving idea, declaring smaller ads "is the only sound approach to the problem."

Institutional advertising by business was advocated by Fred A. El-dean, of the public relations department of General Motors Corporation. Albert Coons, vice president of Allied Stores Corporation, which spends $6,000,000 a year in newspaper advertising, declared newspapers are the fundamental publicity medium for merchandisers but cautioned publishers to improve their relationship with the stores.

GEORGE T. LADD
DIES SUNDAY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 5 (AP)—George Tallman Ladd, 72, president of United Engineering and Foundry Co. and a prominent industrialist for nearly 40 years, died in Magee hospital on Sunday following an extended illness.

Ladd, designer of some of the world's largest water tube boilers for the Fordson plant of the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit, was associated with numerous other engineering and manufacturing firms at the time of his death.

He was also president of the Ladd Equipment Co., chairman of board of the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory, as well as the executive committee of Pennsylvania Central Airlines. In educational and civic institutions he was well known, too.
Bucknell university recently named its mechanical engineering department in his honor.

A native of Edinburg, O., he started his business career with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad just before the turn of the century.

red lights from one-battery flashlights each man's jacket is equipped with, but could do nothing. Then all became quiet except for the gale.
We spotted an empty raft and with our hands managed to paddle to it.
It was larger than ours and we climbed aboard and sent our little raft out so that others might find it if they were still afloat.

Rescue 3 Buddies

Our larger raft was provisioned but we did not touch the food. Then we saw a flashlight and we managed to pick up three more men and the six of us just laid on the raft as close as we could to keep warm.
All we could do was wait.

At daybreak we spotted another empty raft and we managed to reach it. About 7 o'clock in the morning we picked up our third raft. Aboard was our skipper, third mate and 18 seamen. We divided up on the rafts and the mate, after we had lashed the three little crafts together, ordered us not to touch any of the food. It was a precaution for what might have been a long period of being adrift at sea.

One of my buddies told me later that when they picked our skipper out of the water, badly injured, he said: "Do you think we'll make port?" He still thought he was aboard his freighter.

Hoist Yellow Flag

We drifted until about 10 o'clock in the morning. I found two packages of cigarettes in my jacket pocket. The cellophane had kept them dry. The 40 cigarettes were soon distributed but all we could get was a puff or so, and these were tasteless and the gale soaked them before we could get a decent puff.

It happened that the water on our raft was no good. The gale had battered the stoppers on our casks.
We hoisted a yellow flag and soon saw a large red flag on a lifeboat.
We managed to reach it and our little party continued to drift together. Our rafts kept banging against each other but we sat tight, hoping and praying for a rescue
ship.

The stories they tell of mirages are all true. Everyone of us throughout the day thought we saw a ship, a sail, or some other object of rescue. We thought we heard the hum of planes and some of us even thought we saw them . . . but they were all mirages.

And so we drifted through each endless hour.

Rescue Ship
About 9 o'clock that night I thought I saw a dark object in the distance. I was afraid to say anything because I thought it was another mirage. When I noticed others looking in the same direction hope flamed anew and then we felt certain.

Our mate fired shots and on our raft we tied a flare to a paddle and I waved and waved it. We learned later that the object we saw, a destroyer escort, had been off its course and a few minutes before they spotted our flares the skipper had corrected his course. Had he not done so they would not have seen our lights.

They thought it was a submarine trap but they took a chance. The destroyer escort's engines were shut off and they fired a lifeline over our rafts. We pulled ourselves toward it. One of the boys on the lifeboat fell off as he was being pulled aboard and a naval officer dove into the sea and rescued him.
We reached the escort and as the sea would rise we would leap for the rails and willing, friendly hands pulled us aboard.

Little Raft Sinks

We were stripped, given clean, warm clothing and put to bed.

Just as the last man left our raft it sank. We wondered how it kept afloat.

Aboard ship I saved my red light, a whistle that is also attached to our jackets, and a knife.

We were given coffee with some kind of beverage in it, cigarettes and water. Doctors gave us a hurried check and we went to bed. Thirty-one of us were rescued by the destroyer escort. Thirty-four members of our crew may still be missing, I haven't heard.

We had breakfast in the morning and reached port late that afternoon. I had my eyes treated for salt wash and we were paraded through the streets of the city to a Navy yard where Red Cross officials gave us clean clothing. We stood by for about 10 days while a board of inquiry conducted its investigation.

Joins Air Corps
When this was finished we were given an opportunity to "sign on"
again or be discharged.

After I had finished my training
I was going to sign on for duty aboard a tanker but my mother asked me not to. She was afraid.
The tanker was sunk. Then I

Asks Congress
To Abolish OWI

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Representative Gavin (R-Pa.) recommended to congress that it abolish the Office of War Information
(OWI) "and turn over to an American unstrangled press, where it rightfully belongs, the handling of the news."

Speaking in the House on observance of newspaper week, Gavin declared that Americans "are given the fullest measure of control of their existence through the public newspapers."

"During this 'Newspaper Week' the congress should resolve to take the shackles off the American Press and that America shall be told what they want to know, and that is the 'truth' of what's happening."

"Over the years the 'American Press' has given a magnificent performance and they deserve our heartfelt thanks rather than the shabby treatment now being dished

That convinced me. I accepted my discharge and two months later
I joined the Air Corps.

Last April Constantine's father died. He has a brother serving overseas.

The story of men praying at sea as told by Captain Eddie Ricken-backer is all true, said Constantine.
"The tough, hardened members of the crew pray just as hard and just as fervently as any of the others. It's only natural to pray," said this young aviation student.

Some time this week Captain John R. Coshey, commanding officer of the 55th College Training Detachment, will present the service bar to Constantine.

Flashes Of Life

HE ASKED FOR IT

New York, (AP)—Martin Murphy strode into a telegraph office.
One hand thrust menacingly into a coat pocket, he approached a clerk and handed him a note reading:

"Call the cops or I will have to shoot you. I don't want your money. I just want a jail sentence of about 10 years."

The clerk obliged. When police arrived, Murphy explained he couldn't endure the family arguments at his home and wanted peace and quiet—in a cell. Police charged him with disorderly conduct.

TRACK RECORD

Los Angeles, (AP)—The Los Angeles Turf Club, operators of the Santa Anita race track before the war, will receive the nation's highest production award Wednesday—
the Army-Navy "E" pennant.

It now owns a company manufacturing aircraft parts on the same grounds where the bangtails used to run.

LOSE SOMETHING?

Salina, Kas., (AP)—Juvenile delinquency was increasing, so Salina's city commission wrangled for weeks with the pros and cons of a curfew law.

Came time for the yes-or-no decision on the ordinance.

Then City Manager E. J. Allison found, to everyone's surprise, the city already had a curfew law.

BENEFIT

Parma, Idaho, (AP)—Railroad workers were putting five derailed freight cars back on the tracks, a big crowd watched, and the high school band played on and on.

After four steady hours of the music, passengers on a blocked train took up a collection.
The band will finish buying its uniforms now, with the $60.

on the square. The matter was left in the hands of Burgess Pfeffer for adjustment with the suggestion from council that if a satisfactory arrangement cannot be worked out on the basis of two stalls that privilege might be withdrawn by council.

Council formally ratified the purchase of $5,000 in U. S. War bonds last week by Borough Treasurer John H. Basehore with the approval of the finance committee. It was explained that the remainder of the balance in the borough fund will be

PLANES SAVED
MEN IN ITALY

Seattle, Oct. 5 (AP)—Every plane the Allies could get off Mediterranean soil was thrown into the invasion of Italy, and yet it very nearly wasn't enough, says Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U.S. Army Air Forces.

The invasion would not have been possible with fewer planes, he said last night, "as a matter of fact, we had to gather these planes together from every source possible—from our training centers, from depots, from modification centers—to do the trick."

"The task would have been easier with more planes; it could not have been done with less."

General Arnold credited the U.S. and British air forces for saving Allied troops from annihilation at the Salerno bridgehead in Italy in calling last night for greater and greater bomber production.

He spoke at the opening of a war games demonstration in connection with a drive to recruit 9,000 new workers for the Boeing Aircraft company, whose Flying Portresses he termed "the outstanding heavy bomber of the war x x x praised to the skies by the Allies and damned to hell by our enemies."

Chauncey R. Buohl, formerly of Gettysburg, highway engineer and public relations director for the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, and his wife, Matilda, of Hummelstown, won verdicts for $8,208.35 in the Cumberland county court at the conclusion of their damage suit against the Lockport Brewing company, of Lock Haven.

Buohl, who escaped with slight injuries, was awarded $5,660, and his wife, $2,548.35. The suit was based on a highway collision of Buohl's car and a truck of the brewing firm, on May 30, 1942, at Shepherdstown.

A motion for new trial was immediately filed by Mark E. Garber, Carlisle, counsel for the defendant company.

The registration of students began today at Western Maryland college for the 77th annual session of the institution. Classes for the fall term will begin on Saturday for the largest student population in the history of the college. Miss Martha Manahan, registrar at the college, said today that a total enrollment of approximately 725 students, including the 300 army cadets was expected. This number exceeds the usual registration by about 125 students.

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McELFRESH

Chapter 17
Dumb-founded, Brad stared at Ella Black.

"But why?" he finally asked. "I talked to her just a while ago. She . . ."

"Jane is not here, Mr. Forrester," Mrs. Black's eyes were cold as the winter wind that cut at Brad's face. "She will not be in—to you."

Something snapped in the back of Brad's mind. What was all this? He was getting the run-around, but why?

"Now, listen, Mrs. Black," he began, but that lady closed the door firmly. There was a distinct 'click' as the old-fashioned bolt slid into place.

Brad stared at the heavy white paneling for a full minute. What the hell; he thought.

Half-way to his car, he turned and surveyed the house. A curtain in the library fluttered back into place. So Ella was watching, was she. Maybe she had a right to, after the way she had told him off.

Or had that been Jane? Not wanting to believe that, Brad hurried to his car. Once out of the driveway, he slowed down. He wanted to think and he had long since learned that thinking such as he had to do does not mix with fast driving.

Stumbling a little in the darkness, Jane almost ran along the narrow footpath. She had to get away from the house—far away—while Aunt Ella dealt with Brad.

She did want to see him, she realized now with a sinking feeling at the pit of her stomach. She wanted to see him so badly that it hurt.

But she didn't dare. There was something about Brad that made you believe what he said—and she couldn't believe him. Not ever. Uncle Ed had spoken the truth and Brad himself had verified it when he contacted Brandt at the funeral. And all the time, she had been believing in him, telling him everything . . . and falling in love with him.

Angry at herself for admitting it, Jane knew that she was in love with Brad Forrester. In love with him despite the fact she never thought there could be anyone else after Joe Masters was killed.

Hardly realizing where she was going, she followed the path as it left the forest and hugged the side of the highway. The wind that whined through the pine trees sounded lonely and sick at heart. Like me, Jane thought.

Oh, Jane, she pleaded, don't go back on me. Help me to be strong. The wind whipped the words from her lips and flung them into the darkness.

Jane wasn't aware of the car until the headlights swept past her, boring twin holes in the night. Then the brakes squealed and the car lurched to a stop.

"Get in, Jane."

A new fear grew in her heart. There was anger in his voice, however hard he might be trying to conceal it. But there also was misunderstanding and hurt. Jane got in.

"Well, Jane?"

Jane sat silent, hunched in her corner of the seat.

"So that's the way it is?" Brad said after a few seconds. He stepped on the starter. "All right, Janey." His voice was softer. "Give, as the youngsters say. We're going to drive around until you do—or until my gas gives out."

Jane answered him with a tight little laugh. She hoped he didn't hear her heart pounding away, calling for a liar with every beat.

Finally she said: "Brad, don't you know? Honestly?" Surely he would not force her into an explanation. He couldn't!

But he did. "No, I don't. Suppose you let me in on your little secret?"

Hot anger swept over Jane. "So you're being that way!" she snapped. "Well, no matter. I'll tell you—and be glad of the chance. I hate you, Brad Forrester! Every bone in your Nazi body. Oh, you fooled me for a long time. I didn't believe Uncle Ed when he told me you aren't an American agent. I thought he was mistaken."

"But he wasn't, Brad," she plunged on, her anger at white heat now. "You told me so yourself, just as much as if you'd said 'Jane, I am a Nazi,' when you met Brandt at the funeral."

"Jane, I can . . ."

"Explain? Yes, I imagine you could. You're very good at that, Brad. But tell me one thing, why did Brandt search for that letter I found in Mr. Billingsley's files? You had it, you know. Was it because he was trying to throw everyone off the trail?"

Jane's anger faded, leaving her tired. Some of the butterflies that had been imprisoned in her stomach the night they had found Billingsley's body had returned.

It was hard to accuse Brad Forrester of being a spy—especially when he didn't defend himself. Did that silence condemn him? Or does it condemn me? Jane thought, wondering why she felt no fear. He could kill me. Murder's been done before.

The thought was hard to take. Jane glanced sidewise at her companion but he was nothing more than a black figure in the thinner blackness of the night.

"I guess that lets me out, doesn't it, Janey?" Brad murmured finally. "Home now?"

Jane thought he sounded tired, even more tired than she felt. She fought down a rising pity. No, she must not feel sorry for him.

"Home?" she repeated dully. "No. Take me to Lucinda's."

Why go home? Maybe at Lucinda Eddy's ramshackle old two-story house, she could—after a fashion—forget.

Brad drove on in silence. Jane kept her eyes on the glow of the headlights, watching the darkness fall back as that circle of light plunged ahead.

The lights of Centuria winked cheerfully as the coupe swept over the crest of a hill and soon they were in town. It was early and the streets were crowded. People are happy, Jane thought, too happy. They don't know the hell that might break about their ears at any mo-

4 Pilot Trainees
Die In Collision

Meadville, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—Four fliers, two of them young army trainees, were killed yesterday when their small training planes collided near here while 1,000 feet in the air.

They were Clarence B. Root, 35, of Troy, N. Y., and Roy Good, 24, of Kettle Rood R. D. 3, Altoona, Pa. Instructors, and James K. Samour, 22, Stoneham, Mass., and Robert S. Phillips, 21, of Rochester, Pa.

Root leaves and widow and two children.

Witnesses said one of the students managed to leap from the plane, but his parachute failed to open. Both planes burned after crashing.

All were attached to the aviation school at Allegheny college, and the accident was the first since training was begun there last February.

MAY SEEK ACTION

State College, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—Charley Stapel, freshman tailback from Avalon, Pa., may see his first college gridiron action with Penn State Saturday when the Nittany Lions meet Colgate. Stapel was battling first team men for a starting position when he suffered a knee injury four weeks ago.

ment. They don't know of this spy ring . . .

"Here you are," Brad snatched her out of her reverie. "Lucy's home, I guess. There are lights." Then, as Jane opened the door: "Believe me, Janey. Just this once."

"How can I, Brad?"

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Frank Sinatra is returning his Broadway Bandbox show to CBS after a month's absence. This is an addition to his Saturday night Hit Parade appearances. The new series, from New York, will be on Sunday nights at 8.

All networks are delaying their 10:30 schedules for five minutes to-night to make way for a special broadcast by President Roosevelt in which he is to open the annual drive of the National War Fund. An addition to CBS at 10 o'clock tonight is a talk on "Freedom to Listen" by James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications commission.

SAYS ARMY HAS ENOUGH MEN TO DEFER FATHERS

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) said Monday he had received authentic figures indicating that there are more than 3,500,000 men in the Army with more than a year's service and that there is sufficient uniformed manpower to preclude the necessity of a father-draft.

Johnson, a supporter of the move to delay the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, said that of this total figure, 800,000 men have had two years' service, 300,000 have had three years' service and 100,000 more than three years' service.

Challenged by Colleague

The Coloradoan, a member of the Senate military committee, asserted that there are enough trained men in the United States and overseas to take care of all the needs of the Army this year and next.

He said he had demanded the figures from the War Department but received no reply. He then obtained them from another source, Johnson added.

The figures, as a basis for father-deferment, were challenged by another military committee member, Senator Hill (Ala.), the Democratic whip.

Seek Fewer Casualties

Hill said he doubted the accuracy of the 3,500,000-man figure but expressed the belief that even if it were correct, a great number of these men probably were in supporting activities.

In any event, he said, these figures could have little effect on the father draft. He pointed out that the ultimate plans call for an Army of 7,700,000 by the end of the year and that Chief of Staff Gen. George C. Marshall and others had made it clear that the Army must draft fathers in order to meet its present goals.

He added that the Army takes the view that the greater the number of adequately trained men, the fewer the casualties.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—Lieut. Leo Francis McLaughlin, 23, son of Mrs. William McLaughlin, and nephew of Peter Burkett, 18 East Main street, who served in the Marines throughout the battle of Bataan, and he was later reported missing, is now believed by the War Department "to be safe and not in captivity."

Guy Nunemaker, 530 West Main street, who served in the 43rd Infantry U.S.V. during the Philippine Insurrection, 1899-1900, and who is familiar with the terrain closely adjacent to Bataan and the jungles and hill sections of the island of Luzon, states: "I feel that a number of our boys, after the fall of Bataan, escaped to the interior of Luzon where they will find tropical foods in abundance and friendly natives, and will be able to survive indefinitely in those remote sections unknown to the enemy."

Francis Hardman, recently promoted to the rank of corporal, Fort Dix, New Jersey, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Hardman, 807 West Main street. Miss Mildred Harman has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Hardman while being employed in Littlestown.

A letter from Charles V. Gladhill to his mother, Mrs. Sara Gladhill, 527 West Main street, brings the information that he is confined to a hospital at Rio De Janeiro recovering from an attack of yellow fever. He is serving in the Merchant Marine.

James Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, and Ellwood Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Baumgardner of near town were selected as judges from the 4H club of Frederick county for the Baltimore Livestock show at Baltimore, on October 3 and 4. There were 4 boys selected from the 4-H clubs of Frederick county, and the two above mentioned are members of the senior class of the Emmitsburg high school.

Miss Doro Elder of Washington, D. C., spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. John Elder, 109 South Seton avenue.

Lt. and Mrs. Charles Sharrer of Camp Meade, were week-end guests

Senate Divided On World Plan

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—A majority of the Senate favors international collaboration after the war, but there are so many different viewpoints that any foreign policy declaration now almost certainly would have to be vague and general in its commitments.

That was the interpretation placed by veteran observers Monday on the results of an Associated Press poll in which 89 Senators were asked if they would support a House-approved Fulbright peace resolution if it came to a vote in its present form.

Of the 89, a total of 42 said they favored the principle of the measure, which would record Congress as favoring American participation through constitutional processes in "appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and maintain a just and lasting peace among the nations of the world."

Eleven Senators opposed the measure in its present form, 36 declined to commit themselves and seven were not reached.

Court Martials Are Postponed

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Court martial trial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Major General Walter C. Short, Navy and Army commanders in Hawaii at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, probably will not be held until after the war.

Both officers have waived any technical objections to delaying the proceedings beyond the two-year period covered by the statute of limitations.

A joint Army-Navy statement said that "it has been decided to postpone proceedings against these officers until such time in the future as may be decided upon as being appropriate."

Kimmel and Short were relieved of their commands within a fortnight after the Japanese struck.

A court martial was ordered shortly after the Roberts report was submitted to Mr. Roosevelt. Kimmel and Short asked for and received retirement several months after Pearl Harbor.

of Lt. Sharrer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharrer, East Main street extended.

Pvt. Eugene Kramer has arrived safely in England according to information received by Mrs. Kramer, 120 South Seton avenue.

Petty Officer Bernard Goulden of White Plains, New York, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Ida Goulden, 212 East Main street.

A Personal Loan

Suggestion To You

Perhaps you have certain financial obligations which you are well able to meet within the course of a year, but the inconvenient dates on which some of them fall due make it hard for you to systematize your affairs.

If you are a responsible person with a steady income, a Personal Loan might be the best answer to your problem. You could then pay off at once your various small obligations, and repay us on a simple orderly monthly schedule which would cause you no inconvenience whatsoever. Why not talk the matter over with us?
